Dear Friends

We have received an overwhelming number of letters in response to the call for application for the residential workshop that we are organizing. We thank all those who have already sent their full applications.

However some of the letters were written in grievance for the fact that our letter did not reach on time or the mail attachment did not open due to some technical problem. A number of willing participants have asked for more time to submit proposals.

So we have decided to extend the last date of application till 2 January 2010 to provide adequate time to all those willing to apply but could not.

Please see the attachment for details.

Sincerely

Jayeeta Bagchi
